Frosh Promised Low Temperature At Spring Frolic

Provost Wilbur to Be Guest of Honor at Spring
Formal

FIRTH AND BULLARD
HEAD COMMITTEE

Phil Lampkin to Tell Freshman Class About Music
Today

Freshman Frolic will be the main feature of the day when the first-year men hold their spring formal in the Hall of Nations at the Washington Hotel, Friday, May 19. Chairman William Firth has arranged to have Phil Lampkin and the Loew's Fox Dance Orchestra furnish the music.

The Frolic, being the first freshman function this year, will be open to all University students and features a dollar dance, stag or drag; a guaranteed temperature of 72 degrees. Provost William Allen Wilbur as guest of honor.

Phil Lampkin, amiable theatre conductor, will address the 10 o'clock rhetoric class today on "Music in General." Lampkin has had a wide education in the field of music and his ability as a speaker should lend an added interest to his address.

President Frederick Bullard announced today that the class will present Provost Wilbur with "a token expressing our esteem and affection for our beloved advisor."

Summer Formal Rules

The Freshman Frolic will be a summer formal. Music will begin at 10 p. m. and dancing will continue until 2 a. m.

Tickets will be sold in Corcoran Hall and in the Yard throughout the week. The Frolic committee emphasizes the point that the "No Corages" rule will prevail. The dance will not be a program dance, according to Firth.

Phil Lampkin has promised that, if possible, stars playing at the Fox Theatre next week will be present at intermission.

Members of the Freshman Frolic committee are: Lucille McGehee, Jane McNew, Katherine Welling, Marjorie Nelson, Francis Crawford, Jack Jones, Ed Kemper, Harold Seigle, Vinnard Paris, Harry Ames and Edward Wilson. Among the patrons will be: President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Provost and Mrs. William Allen Wilbur, and the Deans of the Faculties and their wives.

The chaperones include Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Max Farrington, and Dr. and Mrs. Lowell Ragatz.

Z. T. A., Acacia Win Intramural Debates

Kappa Delta, Phi Alpha Defeated in Heated Contests for Forensic Cups

Zeta Tau Alpha and Acacia were victorious in the final intramural debates held on May 9. Each team will be awarded a silver cup by Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity.

Mary Lee Watkins and Jean Kaddell debated for Zeta Tau Alpha; Acacia was represented by Ted Pierson and James Haley. The runners-up in the contest were Kappa Delta, whose team consisted of Louise Wright and Mildred Draper, and Phi Alpha represented by Bernard Fagelson and Joe Danzansky, with Sam Sugar as alternate. Judging the final debates were Aldo S. Raffa, coach of debate at Georgetown University, and Ronald Sherbondy, debate coach at American University.

Professor Henry G. Roberts was in charge of the entire debate contest sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho.

ESSAY CONTEST ENDS

Saturday, May 20, will be the last date for the submission of entries in the essay contest conducted by the Monthly Literary Review of The Hatchet. The prize will be "The Oxford Companion to English Literature" donated by Paul Pearlman.

BAND HOLDS SMOKER

The University Band will hold its first annual smoker tonight at Sholl's, 1032 Connecticut avenue. Invited guests include Lieut. Benter of the Navy Band, Franklin Jackson of the public schools music department, and Max Farrington, of the athletic department.

Provost Wilbur Crowns First Lady

Harriet Atwell Proclaimed Queen by Guest of Honor at Junior Prom last Saturday. Julia Fick and Grace Giffin are Maids of Honor.

Summer Session Pre-Registration To Begin Monday

Advisors Can Be Seen Now for Arrangement of Programs

Following the practice of the last several years, a period of pre-registration for the 1933 Summer Session is announced by Registrar Fred E. Nessell. The period set begins Monday, May 22, and continues until Wednesday, May 31.

During this time students now in attendance at the University may plan their summer programs with the appropriate advisers and deans and fill in the necessary registration forms. Fees for the nine weeks' term in the Junior College, Columbian College, the Graduate School, the School of Education, the School of Government, the Division of Library Science, the Division of Fine Arts, and the Division of University and Extension Students, and for the first six weeks' term of the Law School may be paid up to and including Monday, June 12, without penalty.

Students who plan to continue in the Summer Session are requested to secure the necessary registration forms at the Office of the Registrar, Building G, prior to consultation with their advisers.

The following changes in courses offered have been announced: Economics, 147; Principles of Merchandising, withdrawn; Education, 204; Conference on Indian Life and Education, withdrawn; English, 193; The Appreciation of Literature, withdrawn; Physics, 13; Dynamics, Sound, and Light, given by Professors Cheney and Taylor; Physics, 14; Modern Physical Phenomena, given by Professor Brown; Political Science, 9; Government of the United States, given by Professor West and hour changed to 5:10 p. m.; Political Science, 10; State Government, withdrawn; Political Science, 181; International Law, withdrawn; Mathematics, 275; Theory of the Potential will be offered only in case the registration warrants.

Dean Wilbur Day Postponed by Rain

Because of unfavorable weather reports "Dean Wilbur Day" was postponed last week until Saturday, May 20, according to a statement made by John Everett, chairman of the Day. The Junior Class will run the field day, which is to be held in the 16 and Kennedy street section of Rock Creek Park, on the same schedule that was made for last week.

The Day will begin at 1 p. m., Saturday, with the "Bring Your Own Lunch" idea. Tables and shady trees are provided in ample numbers to lend the picnic atmosphere to the affair. O. D. K. will play the Faculty nine at 3 p. m., with Provost Wilbur throwing out the first ball. The interschooly doughnut eating contest will be held, as will the marble contest between the brawny greek-men, at 1:20 p. m. Everett urges all field marshalls to be at the field day promptly in order to insure a smooth schedule.

Committees Picked By Student Council For Coming Year

Helvestine, Hitch, Perrin and Given Go on Student Life
Committee

William Helvestine, president, announced the appointment of committees of the Student Council at a meeting held in Corcoran Hall last Sunday afternoon.

They are: Social, Robert Hitch, chairman, Fred Stevenson, and Catherine Cutler; representation and elections, George Emmart, chairman, and James Johnson; social calendar, Fred Stevenson, chairman, and Gretchen Felker; constitution and by-laws, John Madigan; carnival, Robert Hitch. William Helvestine, president; Robert Hitch, first vice president; Mary Perrin, secretary; and Ralph Given, treasurer, will serve on the Student Life Committee.

The council discussed a recommendation of President Helvestine that the constitution be amended to allow the Panhellenic Association and the Interfraternity Council to appoint representatives to the Student Council.

Bicameral Division Proposed
Robert Hitch, member from the Law School, informally proposed division of the Student Council into two houses, the upper house to be composed of elected members representing the different schools and the lower house of appointed members representing the various activities on the campus. No action was taken on Mr. Hitch's proposal.

President Helvestine read the constitution and pointed out to the members that the old Student Council holds its authority until the expiration of the present school year.

Vice President Hitch, as chairman of the social committee, announced the formation of plans for a garden party some time this summer.

Mrs. Barrows Is Honored By Visayan Circle Sunday

Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, director of women's personnel guidance, was the guest of honor and principal speaker on the Mother's Day program of The Visayan Circle, Inc., given at their clubhouse, 1817 K street northwest, last Sunday.

Diosdado M. Yap, president of the Circle and a graduate student in the University, gave the address of welcome followed by a musical program. Flowers were presented to the mothers.

Final Ph. D. Exams Held Before Council

The Graduate Council of the George Washington University held the final examinations of candidates for the degree of doctor of philosophy on Friday, May 12; Saturday, May 13, and Monday, May 15, in the council room.

The candidates were Paul DeWitt Dickens, John Charles Miller, and Henry Furness Hubbard, fellows of the Graduate Council.

In the conduct of the examination the Graduate Council has revised the formality and dignity formerly associated with doctorate disputations, including the appearance of the examining committees and the candidates in academic costume.

In addition to the professor in charge of the Fellows research, the examining committee is composed of faculty members engaged in the same or associated fields and scholars qualified as experts on the subject of the candidate's thesis.

Wilbur Crowns Atwell Queen At Junior Prom

Seven Outstanding Juniors
Pledged to Steel Gauntlet
Society

300 STUDENTS ATTEND
BRILLIANT FORMAL

58 Stations on N. B. C. Broadcast of Prom Music

Shortly after midnight Saturday, May 13, Provost William Allen Wilbur crowned Harriet Atwell as The First Lady of the University, and proclaimed Julia Fick and Grace Giffen the maids of honor. The "Queen" was crowned at the highly successful Junior Prom following a balloting of the most popular women on campus on Thursday and Friday, May 11, 12.

Steel Gauntlet, newly formed Junior Honor Society, was inducted at this time by the Junior Prom's guest of honor, Provost Wilbur. The following men were tapped: Lee Carlin, Joseph Danzansky, Floyd Sparks, Bernard Fagelson, John Madigan, John Everett, and Samuel Detwiler.

Harriet Atwell, the new First Lady of the University, is associate editor of the 1934 Cherry Tree, active in women's athletics, vice president of the Junior class, women's sport editor on The Hatchet, and is a member of Hour Glass, Gamma Eta Zeta, Delphi, and of Chi Omega social sorority. She has many other activities to her credit as well as a high scholastic average.

Julia Fick has been active in many organizations, as well as on Junior Prom work; Sigma Kappa is her social sorority.

Grace Giffen is well known as "Scottie" on campus; she has been a member of the Troubadour trio since last October, and is pledged to Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The Prom, held at the Shoreham Hotel, attracted a representative group of students. Barnee and his Hotel Shore-

Alpha Kappa Psi Will Make Award

Scholarship Prize to Be Made to Government
Student

Beta Mu Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity, national professional in commerce, will present their annual Alpha Kappa Psi scholarship award this June to the male student candidate for a degree in the School of Government at George Washington University who having completed a total of ninety semester hours during the present school year has attained the highest average grade in such work.

The prize is a handsome bronze medallion mounted on plush and inclosed in a leather case, and is to be kept permanently by the winner. The award will be made each year by Alpha Kappa Psi to encourage the attainment of higher scholastic standards by commerce students. Dr. Richard N. Owens heads the faculty committee which will determine the student who is to receive the medallion this June.

Virginia McDonnell Heads Riding Club for Second Year

The Riding Club of George Washington University re-elected Virginia McDonnell as its president for 1933-34, at a meeting last Wednesday night.

Other officers elected were Laurie Hess, vice president, and Mary Kelly, secretary-treasurer. Activities for the year will be culminated with a picnic on June 4, at Port Republic, Md. Reservations for the picnic may be made with Virginia McDonnell.

Dr. Carl C. Keiss Will Address Physics Colloquium

Dr. Carl C. Keiss, of the Bureau of Standards, will give an illustrated address, "The Analysis of Complex Spectra," before the weekly meeting of the Physics Colloquium on May 19, at 8:10 p. m. in J-14.

Dr. Keiss is a leader in spectroscopy, having done extensive research in the infra-red spectrum of chemical elements. Formerly he was a member of the G. W. staff, lecturing on atomic structure.

FIELD DAY NOTE

There will be an important meeting of all marshalls for Junior Class Field Day in the Junior Class Office, Wednesday, 12 noon.

Marvin Will Be National Oratorical Contest Judge

President Cloyd Heck Marvin will be one of the judges of the United States finals in the Tenth National High School Oratorical Contest in Constitution Hall next Saturday night.

The Board of Judges, selected as authorities in history, civics law, and rhetoric, includes the heads of five leading institutions of higher learning in the District of Columbia and a prominent officer of the Department of Justice.

Tentative Plans Provide for Public Distribution of Diploma, Marvin Says

SENIORS HEAR MARVIN
AT FRIDAY MEETING

Speaks On University's Plan for Future—Early Move Improbable

There will be no speaker at the convocation next month, if the administration sees fit to accept the preference of the candidates for graduation, it was evidenced by a vote of the Senior Class Friday at the suggestion of President Marvin. The class in assembly voted "no" to the question put to them by Dr. Marvin.

Plans for the convocation call for the distribution of diplomas to the graduates at the public ceremony, Dr. Marvin stated at the meeting which was held in Corcoran Hall. In previous years the diplomas were distributed in private after the formal public ceremony was over.

Dr. Marvin also asked the opinion of the class on his proposal to have the baccalaureate sermon at the Cathedral. This also met with the approval of the class. Dr. Marvin stated yesterday that all arrangements for the convocation will be completed this week, until then he could make no definite statement as to the plans.

The assembly at 4:45 p. m. was compulsory for all seniors, their classes being excused, and the first part of the meeting pertained to the proper wearing of the academic cap and gown.

No Move Probable

Following the immediate business of the convocation, Dr. Marvin spoke at some length on the history of the University and some of its plans for the future. The University will not move for some time, he said. Little money will be spent on the plant and its maintenance. It is the administration's idea that the greatest percentage of money should be spent on faculty salaries.

Expenditure for maintenance amounts to only four per cent of the University budget, while at Harvard, Dr. Marvin said approximately 25 per cent of their budget goes to maintenance. The University is proud of being one of the few in the country which has not cut faculty salaries.

Drama Organization Elects New Officers

Cue and Curtain Effects Reorganization; Lushy Elected
Production Manager

Cue and Curtain, in a meeting last Thursday evening, effected a reorganization of the government of the club in the belief that it would facilitate the production of future dramatic presentations in a more professional style.

Briefly, the new order consists of substituting for the usual offices of president, vice president, etc., the offices of production manager, business manager, and publicity director, assistants to the above, and the various chairmen of the sub-committees. At the meeting last Thursday, the club elected R. Newell Lushy to the office of production manager; Floyd Sparks, business manager, and Kenneth Romney, publicity director. In turn these newly elected officers appointed their respective assistants as follows: Karl Gay, assistant production manager; Thomas E. Taylor, assistant business manager, and Gordon V. Potter, assistant publicity director.

Other appointments are as follows: Joe Sizoo, master of properties; Adele Gussack, wardrobe mistress; Leon Comerford, master electrician; Amanda Chittum, make-up chairman; Newell Lushy, stage manager.

In addition to effecting the reorganization and electing the new officers, Cue and Curtain last Thursday extended active membership to Sam Caldwell, Margaret Gilligan, Royal Gunnison, Maxine Kahn, Gordon V. Potter, Betty Rice, Jack Richmond, Kenneth Romney, Thomas Taylor, Tom Toner, and Don Wilkins. Associate membership was extended to Doris Thomas, Ludwig Caminita, Wilburn West, Floyd Sparks, Melvin Law, and Clementina Laurie.

Luther Club Plans Picnic In Lieu of Usual Meeting

In place of the regular meeting scheduled for Tuesday, May 15, the Luther Club will hold a picnic at Great Falls on Saturday, June 3. Those who attend the picnic will meet at Roselyn at 3 p. m.

WASHINGTON, D. C., TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1933

WE WILL HAVE NO SYMPATHY FOR THE OVER-AMBITIOUS

Shakespeare's Mark Anthony said ambition was a grievous fault. Ambition has carried away the heads of a number of campus organizations during the past month and plans have been laid for new or expanded enterprises that student interest and finances cannot absorb.

The Cue and Curtain Club maintained their "higher class" price level of last year and expanded their program to include a third night, the junior class promoted the first Junior Prom in five years with a number of "luxury" features and the freshmen will do their best to give "the biggest dollar's worth of the year" at their hop Friday evening.

Each of these enterprises has merit; each in itself can be justified. The managers of each have realized the necessity of giving real value for every dollar and they have done so. But collectively these enterprises represent doing something for the sake of doing it. The leaders of these movements have to rationalize to justify their undertaking. They become inspired with an idea and then search for an excuse to carry it out.

The excuse is found, and plans are made but the tickets sell slowly. The promoters begin to worry. They come to The Hatchet with the cry of "help" and expect to be rescued by big headlines and dishonest bally-ho.

The desperate business manager argues that it is the duty of The Hatchet to support University enterprises and that if The Hatchet does not "co-operate" with other activities it shouldn't exist. That the paper has its own reputation and ethics to uphold never occurs to him.

Blind cooperation and dishonest bally-ho should not and will not be Hatchet policy. There is an old maxim that says, "Never start anything you can't finish." Promoters who have bitten off more than they can chew will find little sympathy in The Hatchet office.

WE TAKE STOCK FOR DAN BEATTIE, RETIRED

This week a second of the major University activities loses a faithful worker. Dan Beattie, managing director of Troubadours for the past two years, tendered his resignation last week at the annual election of the board of directors. Last week C. Manley Fesler, retired as editor of The Hatchet.

Leaders in these major activities are apt to look back on their hard work more or less morbidly. They ask themselves if it was all worth while after all; if perhaps they hadn't overestimated the importance of extending themselves to the limit of their ability.

If Beattie feels that way today, let us point out to him his mistake. In the first place. There are some people in the University who realize he has done a good job. In the second place it should be a personal satisfaction to have successfully managed an undertaking of the magnitude of the Troubadour organization and see a thousand people entertained by his show.

None of us should leave University activities feeling that after all one has gained nothing that will matter in our future. We will have gained much if we have chosen the right activity and done our best in that field. It is the wandered, the "Jack-of-all-trades" in University activities, that needs to be pessimistic.

THE BASEBALL COACHES WONDER AND THEN ASK YOU

At a time when most baseball coaches are speculating with themselves as to how many more games they are going to win next year than they have won this year the George Washington mentors are wondering whether or not they are going to have a team at all.

University economies, which seem almost inevitable next year will hardly make it possible to support a baseball team when it was impossible this year under a more liberal budget. If the National Capital Civic Fund makes a financial success of this season they will no doubt be interested in the Colonials next year but that is what has Director Pixlee and Coach Morris worried.

As the receipts to date stand, the Civic Fund will be just about even if the attendance remains up to the standard already set. But if interest wanes in these final games there will be no baseball team next year. The team has a fair record; we can expect it to be better next year. There is the question then whether or not we are interested in seeing a George Washington team take the field next year. If we are, we have got to attend the remaining games.

JUST BETWEEN US

By LUDWIG CAMINITA

CUE AND CURTAIN presents a drama with George Washington cast, scenery, direction, and publicity, but no George Washington audience! Another illustration of a marked indifference towards anything which develops or leads to the cultured person. This time, the student body evinced such an apathetic attitude that the least we say about it, the better.

IT IS TO BE HOPED that the new student council will take some action concerning the recent Hachey resolution passed by the outgoing body in which a desire was expressed to have tuition fees lowered.

It might not be amiss at this time to point out that the George Washington faculty, unlike those at some other institutions, has not had its salary lowered. This is of the utmost importance, as one can readily realize, if this institution is to continue with the fine faculty it has at present. Faculty members of national repute would be lost; and even if they remained for sentiment's sake, their research work would be hampered, should lowered salaries be affected.

A University's scholastic standing depends upon the good work of its faculty. Of course, if the Student Council wishes to lower tuition fees, and lower salaries, which would compel the administration to get ordinary professors, then its their own affair. I, for one, would rather pay present tuition rates, and graduate from a school which means something, as George Washington does now.

DEAN WILBUR DAY was postponed last week because of inclement weather. The day will be held as per schedule in Rock Creek Park, next Saturday. The Field Day will continue under the auspices of the Junior Class, and students are again urged to attend the affair as an expression of gratefulness to "The Grand Old Man" of the University.

EVER SINCE I first matriculated at the University, I was impressed with the infinite patience and ability of Mrs. Smith, the charming lady who directs the caretakers of the yard. Older students inform me that only three years ago, the yard was as barren of foliage as the Sahara desert. Yet, in a short span of time, she has converted it into a veritable Garden of Eden. It is such work as this, done quietly and efficiently, which enhances the value of the University; for one's first impression of George Washington depends in no small way upon the appearance of its campus. Mrs. Smith is to be congratulated for her fine work; students can cooperate by taking more care when walking along pathways.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL is to be congratulated for the adoption of an official University ring which has been approved by the University. The ring is a real masterpiece. Each department of the University is represented on the insignia, and the rings are offered in three types of gold with any stone that one may wish to purchase.

A desirable feature is that one must have at least 50 hours residence at George Washington before one can purchase a ring. This insures a true representation of George Washington students and alumni in the sale of rings.

It is pleasant to note, too, that consideration is being given to student purses, for the scale of prices has been regulated to meet almost any average student's purse.

HARRY NORRIS, president of the German Club, held a conversation with me for about an hour and a half one day. Harry was telling me the problems of his organization and complained that The Hatchet did not give his group enough publicity. What was said to Norris applies equally well to the other language groups, or any of the smaller organizations for that matter.

I explained to Harry that The Hatchet is primarily an organ of news; it dispenses that news which, in its opinion, is of prime interest to its readers. The smaller groups, such as the language clubs, do not reach a large enough group of readers, or give a sufficiently interested program, to warrant more publication of their activities.

The groups, to get publicity, must first augment their numbers and rather than utilize The Hatchet for that purpose they should first utilize their best sources of publicity; the individual in person. I note, for example, that Le Cercle Francais has never announced in the French classes, so far as I know, that there is such an organization. Yet there are many students studying French who might be interested in joining the group if they were acquainted with its purposes and aims.

I would suggest, as I suggested to Norris, that the groups first reach the individuals in person, through class announcements or otherwise. Once they have interested a sufficiently large group of people and become duly active, Hatchet publicity will inevitably result. In other words—if you do your share, The Hatchet will certainly do its bit.

IT SEEMS A PITY that Louis Malkus, with his ability and such talented men working under him, was unable to usher in a student symphony orchestra this year. As the school year comes to a close, I go on record as a committee of one expressing my sincere wish that Malkus will find willing talent this summer; willing enough to practice sufficiently to permit Malkus and his University Symphony to give a series of concerts during the 1933-34 fall semester.

"The Romantic Young Lady" Scores In Three-Night Showing at Wardman

Distinctive Settings, Clever Lines, and Directorial Skill Characterize Cue and Curtain Production; Thomas and Gunnison Take Leads

By ELEANOR HELLER

With eleven characters, distinctive settings, clever script, and excellent directorial skill, the members of the Cue and Curtain Club in their production of the Spanish comedy, "The Romantic Young Lady," again established themselves as fine amateur dramatists.

A brief review of the characters, who were all uniformly excellent, is in keeping and certainly their fine individual performances merit comment. Doris Thomas, a petite of the romantic young lady offered excellent acting in the ingenu lead. This was Miss Thomas' first appearance for the club.

Possessing the color and dash needed for the hero, Royal A. Gunnison was smoothly suave in his portrayal of a young novelist. Stock company appearance in Seattle and other western cities and fine characterization in "Cock Robin" has given Mr. Gunnison an inimitable manner of playing shrewd parts with such professional aplomb as was shown Friday evening in the character of the "The Apparition."

Elizabeth Rice scored a decided hit as the eccentric old grandmother who had gained wisdom in her long life. Miss Rice easily dominated the rest of the cast in the last act while Margaret Gilligan, as Maria Pepe provided excellent comedy relief. Miss Gilligan was exceedingly amusing as the grandmother's personal maid who was continuously giving herself away as an eavesdropper.

Grant Van Demark was well fitted to his part of the sophisticated "Don Juan," who aspired to any girl's affections and especially those of Irene, charming secretary who was particularly well characterized by Adele Gusack.

Honors for the laughs go to Ruth Molyneux as Amalia and Joseph Danzansky as Pepe. Miss Molyneux gave a clever performance in the second act when confronted by the hero and his beloved. Joseph Danzansky delighted the audience as usual with his excellent execution of his comic part.

Just as stiff and formal as a Castilian valet should act was Ludwig Caminita as Gunnison's valet. The lesser roles of Emilio and Mario were well taken by Thomas E. Taylor and Wilburn West.

A great deal of praise is properly due R. Newell Lusby who as stage manager created settings both artistic and distinctive in design.

Constance Connor Brown's superior directing is evident throughout the production.

Conclusively, this latest dramatic effort of the Cue and Curtain Club equaled, if not surpassed, all former productions in both convincing presentation and well chosen cast, and provided the audience with a delightful evening of light comedy.

GEORGE WELLS MADE TROUBADOUR DIRECTOR

remains the same. It consists of Dean Longfellow, stage manager; Christine Spigul, dancing director; and Catherine Prichard, publicity manager.

Wells issued an urgent call for original plots for use in the next production. He asks all students to submit any such material to him now. He may be reached at the Theta Delta Chi house, 1714 Rhode Island avenue northwest. Original music, due by September, is likewise requested.

The board formally approved the appointment of Wells and Longfellow to the Board of Dramatics. This body consists of two representatives from Troubadours, two from Cue and Curtain, and the faculty adviser of each of these groups. Professor Willard Hayes Yeager, head of the public speaking department, is chairman.

Director Wells has been in Troubadours since 1930. Starting as a promoter, he has for the last two years filled the position of production manager. He played the part of a reporter in the cast of "Oh, Say! Can't You See?"

The position of music director is still open. Constituting a place on the board, its chief requirements are a knowledge of music and ability to conduct an orchestra and play the piano. Applicants must state their qualifications in these lines.

Applications are also being received for posts as assistants in all departments. They should be mailed to Sam Detwiler, 25 Beach street, Clarendon, Va.

ATWELL CROWNED QUEEN AT JUNIOR PROM SATURDAY

ham Orchestra provided the music and, as per schedule, broadcast the prom over a coast-to-coast network.

The Grand March preceded the coronation ceremonies and was unique in that there were 12 couples only in the march. The Queen and her maids of honor were not announced until the first three ladies in line were selected as partners by Joseph Danzansky, Floyd Sparks, and John Everett, who led the march.

Others in the grand march were: Virginia Hawkins, Clara Critchfield, Helen Mitchell, Platonis Papps, Betty Rey-

Advertising?

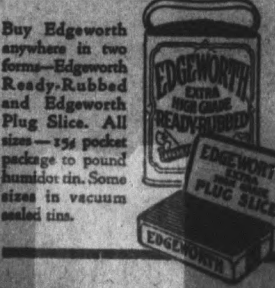

Frederick C. Kendall, editor of Advertising & Selling, says, "Advertising is still young. Yet it is already a vital part of every important industry. The professional advertising man must be not only a thoughtful student of human nature, but also a student of all American business."

"SPARKING" ideas are the life blood of advertising. That's why advertising men, as well as college men, turn to a pipe. For a good pipe with the right tobacco is man's first-aid to clear thinking and wisdom. As for the "right tobacco"—that's Edgeworth Smoking Tobacco.*

SPORT

By
ROBERT P. HERZOG

The athletic event of the year is now history. The long-awaited Junior Prom rests in peace by her more famous predecessors the Interfrat and Panhel proms. But the Junior Prom interests us. Lee Carlin, football captain, was elected to Steel Gauntlet, newly-formed junior honor fraternity. Among others tapped were Bernard Fagelson, senior sports manager; Joe Danzansky, manager of baseball; and Johnny Everett, manager of basketball. Quite a record—out of seven newly-elected members four are connected with University sports.

Two U. of Maryland baseballers were suspended for playing sandlot baseball—am I nervous about a certain local "diamond"? P. S. Capital City League.

Here's a little item we tried to hold back last week, but we couldn't resist the temptation this week. Acacia's ball-playing representatives, led by "Flying Dutchman" Otto Kriemelmeyer, are building up a gorgeous array of debating criticism. It seems that the Acacias are poor sports. That's what the Delta; S. P. E.'s, K. A.'s and various wandering Greeks have to say. Back when the season was young and moderately innocent the Acacias left the Deltas in the lurch after four and one-half stanzas; last week the S. P. E.'s were stranded at the altar with but six innings under their belts; and Sunday the K. A.'s were placed in a compromising position but managed to get away. All of which leads us to believe that if Acacia meets the Phi Sigs in the grand finale the spectacle will be a squabble of no mean proportion. It seems that Phi Sig pitcher Monroe is an auditor in the U., consequently not registered for credit and consequently deemed ineligible by many.

The Greeks are all RUN-down. There will be no track meet this year.

Taking advantage of three errors, five hits, and six walks, the Morris-men overcame a nine-run lead with an 11-run spurge to take the Salem College baseball team into camp, 14-12. Howell did nobly. But Heinle Weingartner delivered three wild pitches, walked seven men, and hit five batters to add glamor to the gory occasion.

KNUCKLES DOWN! That's what the by-word in the frat houses is this week. It seems that the council members are going to put on a marble contest at the postponed Junior Class Field Day.

It seems that the depression is over. Some ten thousand spectators recently viewed a track meet on the coast. Whoops! In 1907 the Franklin and Marshall football team ran at a twenty-two fifty deficit; they netted forty dollars on the classic U. of P. game—and we hear that athletics are going commercial.

Tennis Contests Delayed by Rain

Continued rain has resulted in the postponement of the women's intramural tennis finals until Tuesday, May 16. The matches were originally scheduled for May 11 and 12. The games will be played on the Seventeenth street courts at 1 p. m. and Ruth Young must be notified before 10 o'clock this morning in case of default.

Sigma Kappa defeated Phi Sigma Sigma 2-0 and Delta Zeta won from Kappa Kappa Gamma 2-1 in the horseshoe matches played this week. Caroline Becker is in charge of the tournament games which will be played daily this week. All games are scheduled for 12 noon on the courts in back of the Fine Arts building.

Junior College Nine Downs Pre-Meds 8-4 in Fast Game

The Junior College nine downed the Pre-Meds yesterday in the intramural league, 8-4. Mazourck, winning pitcher, held the Medics to two runs until the last round when he retired with a sore arm. Rathjen, who relieved him allowed the opposition 2 tallies before retiring the side. Benefield of Junior College had a perfect day at bat with four bingles, while Simon of the losers netted three.

Phi Sigma Kappa Defeats Kappa Sig, Wins League Title

Acacia, Sigma Mu Sigma to Play Decisive Game for League B Title

Phi Sigma Kappa won the interfraternity baseball title of League A Sunday by an 11-3 victory over Kappa Sigma, thus acquiring the play-off position for honors against the as yet undecided League B winner.

Monroe and Parker collaborated with the hurling duties for Phi Sig, and though touched hard at times, kept the hits well scattered. Jackson's triple featured the barrage of slugging counting for three runs in the fourth inning.

Score by innings:
P. S. K. 2 0 3 3 3 0—11
K. S. 0 0 0 1 0 2—3

Delta Tau Delta put a crimp in the Sigma Mu Sigma hopes by mixing hits among their opponents' errors to chalk up an 11-6 win.

Scoring in two-run bunches, the Delta accumulated a 9-run lead by the seventh, when a last-minute 4-run rally by Sigma Mu fell short. Dubious honors for spasmodic hurling were won by Pates, who, though granting nine hits, twice pulled through with the bases loaded.

Score by innings:
D. T. D. 1 0 2 2 2 2—11
S. M. S. 1 1 0 0 0 0—6

Acacia continued her string of victories by whitewashing Kappa Alpha, 7-0, and will play Sigma Mu Sigma this week in a title-deciding match.

Behind the steady hurling of Crouch, Sigma Nu won the runner-up position in League A by a 5-1 defeat of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Weaver greatly aided his battery mate by throwing out four would-be base stealers.

Score by innings:
S. N. 0 3 0 0 0 2—5
S. A. E. 0 0 0 0 0 1—1

BULLETIN

The baseball scheduled for last night with Johns Hopkins University was cancelled because of rain.

Rain Reigns

Pitter-patter on the roof; I've got the blues—rain—Indoor beer parties and afternoon bridge games thrived last week as Washington's annual spring precipitation took the form of a deluge. A wall of water that made the Galveston Tidal Wave look like a piker kept the Junior Class indoors and tennis team members adjourned to the ping-pong courts.

Athletic department officials sat helplessly as a continuous seven-day rain hustled horseshoe pitchers to the showers, and kept the vigorous golf team off the fairway.

Broad-shouldered athletes wearing ruddy, weather-beaten complexions and displaying muscular prowess that would make Jim London gape in amazement worked for hours on 250-piece jig saw puzzles. Billy Parrish, the only boy in the world with 10 thumbs, managed to mess-up more "nearly complete" puzzles than the rest of the squad together.

Maybe, some day, when the pitter-pitter stops, the water recedes, and ole Sol shines again, Coach Jean will take his five golfers, Baldwin, Sherfy, Madden, Garber, and Kolb, down on the banks of the historical old stream, and let them play some more. You know, like in the good ole days. Then he'll unhitch the tennis courts from Washington Monument, let his 10 racquetiers vie for the silver loving cup, and pit together the three teams, Yap-Walsh, Gellman-Kag, and Sullivan-Coakley, to see which profited most, or least, from the nice indoor games' like drop-the-himble. Then after all the sparrows and robins have fluttered around in their mud-bath, maybe, it will be dry enough for Coach Jean's 17 uneliminated horseshoe pitchers to stretch their "wings."

Big Eighth Inning Wins for Colonials

An eleven run spurge in the eighth round by George Washington overcame a slowly gained advantage of Salem College in Griffith Stadium last Wednesday night and the Colonials copped the decision, 14-12, their second in five starts. Although outbait by the visitors 13-to-7, Morris' men made their bingles count for runs, combining them with enemy miscue and wildness on the part of the opposing pitcher, Mazza.

Trailing 12-8 in their big scoring round, the Colonials tallied their markers on 6 walks, 3 errors and 5 safe hits. The big blow of the affair was Jimmy Howell's double-clearing the bases. In all 14 batters faced the Salem slabbers, Mazza and Myers, in the game-deciding inning.

Professors Chances Better As Faculty O.D.K. Tiff Nears

Campus baseball experts are of the opinion that the one week postponement of the Faculty-O. D. K. baseball game will greatly increase the professors' chances of winning. The game, listed as the feature of Junior class field day, was postponed from last Saturday and will be played at 3 o'clock this Saturday, May 20.

Yes, I have heard about two words; and now and then three words—but "They Satisfy" means "To gratify fully."

Why do these two words "they satisfy" fit Chesterfields? Because Chesterfield Cigarettes are milder. Because Chesterfield Cigarettes taste better.

Chesterfield's way of blending and cross-blending fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos brings out better flavor and aroma.
